

Leading Transformative Solutions in Self-Healing Communities

Workshop

Communities that build hope and healing mobilize common resources in uncommon ways. Building the capacity of communities to solve complex problems requires helping people to intentionally generate a culture that prevents adversity and promotes flourishing. This workshop will detail the principles of Self-Healing Communities' work and illustrate each with fun and interesting stories from communities that have been successful reducing the rates of many health, safety and social problems. We will explore leadership practices and processes that generate transformational change. This is an interactive workshop that focuses on culture, culture change, and the importance of creating safe environments that support participation in health-promoting activities.